
Busy weeks

Not been much on the boards for the last 2 weeks. We got a kitten, which we named Pebbles 2 weeks ago and had to go to the vet for her vaccinations and generally setting the house rules and play with her a lot. Totally mad she is.

On top of that, got myself the pink blackberry. Awesome phone and totally love it, so had to get to know that also :woohoo:

Hi there,

I haven't been doing much online networking either recently. I did my first craft fair a few weeks ago and it has taken up so much time. Still it was a great learning experience and it was great to get feedback direct from the customer. Hope you are having fun with your new kitten...I have a mad Basset Hound called Oscar...he's totally gorgeous but when he was a pup, he was quite a handful ! Good luck !
