Hiya.

I'm Susan, I recently quit the newspaper industry to start my own Children's Portrait Company called Nipper Snappers. I'm based in Edinburgh and I'm looking forward to chatting with you all.

kindest regards

Susan

Hi Susan,

I started The Pink Martini in 2007, although I had a few template changes, forum change and finally came to this look, although I will be adding some other features near future. Now the hard work of networking and to get The Pink Martini about has started.

The name was born as pink for women, and martini associated with lounging and relaxing with a cocktail, (the networking).

I know that there are a few sites about for women, but I wanted a site where content is determined by users, this to be a users site and where networking can freely take place without being penalised for doing so.

Glad you like it:)
