There are numerous interactive features on The Pink Martini that you can use. The Pink Martini is set up to be both for networking where you can advertise and talk about your business and to use if for fun. Best of all, The Pink Martini is free to use, although for prominent banner and featured advertising some fees apply.

Articles: Submit articles on subjects you have knowledge, or use it as an article database that will provide valuable backlinks to your website. These menu items become visible for each appropriate section once you have logged in. You can leave your weblink, business details, logo within your article. Free

Blog: You can submit a blog. This feature is visible on your user menu once logged in. Free

MySpace: You can create my space style pages to share with family and friends. This is also found beneath your user menu. Free

Is there a novel writer in you? Submit your fiction to the Stories & Fiction section. We all love a good read. Free

Market Place: Place your classified ads and services. Free

Events: Add your events, coffee mornings, conferences, tradeshows, gigs and more with support of Googlemap. Free

Recipes: Submit your delicious recipes for all to enjoy, unless they are top secret and you do not want to share them. Free

Links: In this section I only accept reciprocal links, so you need to add my link to your site in return. Free

Downloads: Here are some free downloads. You can submit yours also.

The Forums: Ofcourse the forums. Here you can chat, talk about your business and other regular topics and signatures are allowed! Best of all, you do not get a warning and risk being removed, unlike some sites!

Some more features will follow in the near future and will I add them to this list. Meanwhile, happy lounging on The Pink Martini! :silly:
